To the trustees of the Angus Lawson Memorial Trust,

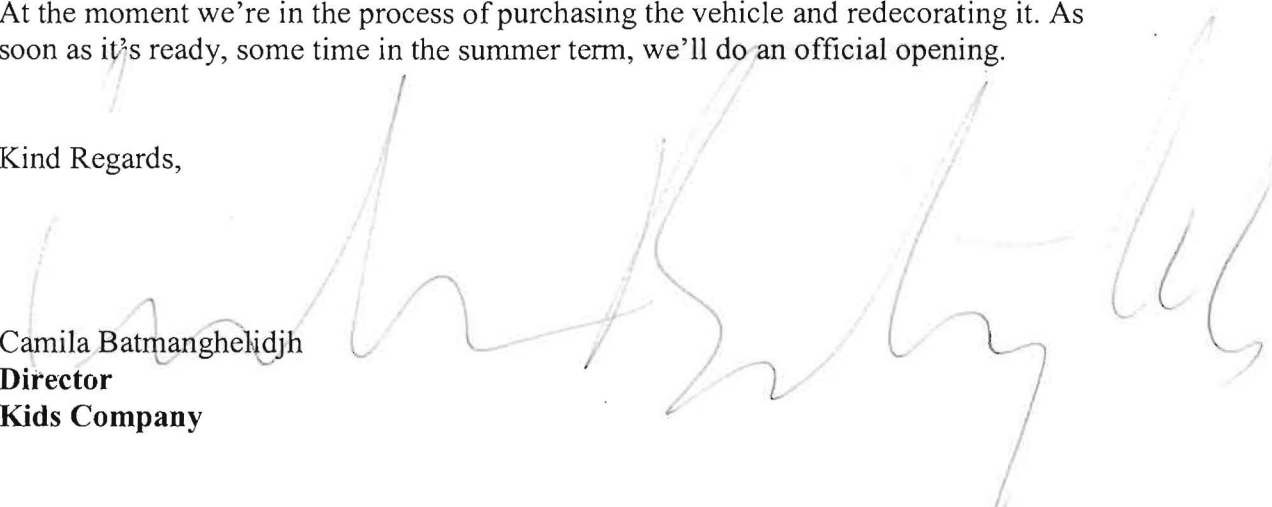

I wanted to formally thank you for the very generous donation of £30,000, which will be spent on a therapy and play bus named in partnership with your trust and in memory of your wonderful son.

The bus will provide an opportunity for lots of very deprived children to play. These are the pupils who do not normally have access to toys at home. Whilst playing, a facilitator will help develop their language skills and their ability to engage pro-socially. The children will use the bus after school hours and during lunchtime breaks for play. During lesson times we will open the facility to young children who are grappling with traumatic issues so that they can access therapeutic interventions.

We are planning to use your bus within a cluster of five very deprived Hackney primary schools. The bus will go to each school one day a week. During the holidays we will continue to use it in those neighbourhoods.

At the moment we're in the process of purchasing the vehicle and redecorating it. As soon as it's ready, some time in the summer term, we'll do an official opening.

Kind Regards,
